Document cited in the International Search Report:

D1: US 5738780 A

The cited document represents the general state of the art.

The invention defined in claims 1-9 is not disclosed by this document.

The cited prior art does not give any indication that would lead a person skilled in the art to the claimed method and device for liquid purification. Therefore, the claimed invention is not obvious to a person skilled in the art.

Accordingly, the invention defined in claims 1-9 is novel and is considered to involve an inventive step. It is also considered to be industrially applicable.
